If Box doxxed you, the natural approach is to contact law enforcement instead of lip service AND DOXXING THEIR FACEBOOK. You're not doing your job by kicking a supposed criminal off the internet and doxxing them, you're trying to harass them. Begone, you ruined your case.

Twitter | Today at 6:37 PM

Now.... This is a public tweet Luna/Box made a few months ago:

BoxOvFox (@BoxOvFox)

19 and ready to start fights!

If you post personal info about yourself publically, people are going to find the rest of your info. (And others' as well). And anyone can also do reverse image search to find other things in relation.

So, for someone who casually explains that their face being public and they don't mind it being public....

BoxOvFox 08/04/2021

My face is already public anyway but uh yeah. Sometimes I'm a well decorated potato

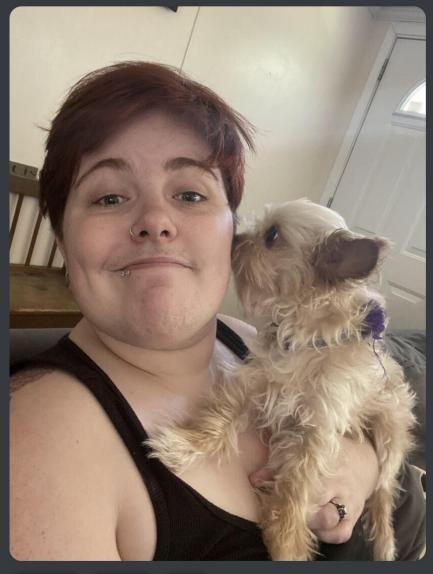

Makeup can do wonders. something Chris still hasn't learned

BoxOvFox 08/04/2021

Thanks! It's my parents puppo, one of four 🗸

(From public server)

It's a bit hypocritical to screech about others finding your info because you're careless about depositing your personal info publicly anyway. Plus, it's hypocritical to screech about "being doxxed" (non ill intent), while doing it to someone else (with ill intent).

If you're not comfortable with your personal info being out there... don't post things about your personal life that will make it easy for people to find your FB in less than 5 minutes.

If anything, it's an example showing how easy it is for people to find stuff about you because you're dumb enough to post it publically. Which, of course, I have emphasized as the Sudoku Puzzle metaphor

Examples of Doxxing:

opposing views the opposite side. Doxers aim to escalate their conflict with targets from online to the real world, by revealing information which includes:

- Home addresses
- Workplace details
- Personal phone numbers
- Social security numbers
- Bank account or credit card information
- Private correspondence
- Criminal history
- Personal photos
- Embarrassing personal details

Citation: https://www.kaspersky.com/resource-center/definitions/what-is-doxing

A Facebook page or post isn't listed as an example, and that is because people can change their names on Facebook all the time, especially to names that aren't really their own.

Aside from that, Doxxing isn't illegal unless it's done with malicious intent. If you're dumb enough to post your information publically for people to connect the dots... that's in you. You're reaping what you're sewing.

Speaking of personal information gathered through illegal means...

Here's Luna/Box confirming they did in fact dox me back in 2017 with the group for malicious intent to "stress me out so my cancer comes back and kills me". On top of that, also admitting that the user you used as a scapegoat for the "dark web" accusation was a lie:

Wow I'm surprised you didn't block me here. But anyway, just thought I'd let you know: The only information we ever had on you back in 2017 was your IP address thanks to statcounter. You slipped up one day and visited our pages using your main. Essentially you caught yourself in your own trap you helped us learn how to use. I only learned your first name after you blocked me on Discord cause Mayou told me. I find it funny you were so concerned about your safety you wouldn't even speak to me, but you used part of your first name in your user.

UPDATE 12/4/21

I won't go into much detail but hi I'm being stalked by some psycho internet lady and her friends. If you see my Facebook disappear it's cause I'm dealing with them. Can't get them on harassment, can't file cease and desist, I already looked into it, I can't do much of anything legally.

I've been dealing with them for the past few weeks, I'm tired and they aren't gonna cut it out unless I "leave the internet forever" so... Yeah. Not doing so great upstairs.

Let me at them. 🗳

@DededeFran I know I've made mistakes and I'm willing to admit that! But running me off the internet? Ma'am??? Bruh??!

Again, stop calling all the kettles "black", Pot...

FYI, if I was a "psycho" and doing all these things you're claiming.... You wouldn't be alive right now; making all these posts.

And, for the umpteenth time in a row, if someone is truly trying to do you harm, especially via "harassment", you can sue them and/or get the police involved. That's the smart and sane thing to do. Complaining on your various media accounts only shows that you haven't changed (no one does, anyway), and you're just doing this for attention.

None of this would have happened had you not made the conscious decision to do what you did to get yourself called out (again).

Once, is a "mistake".

Twice is a "coincidence"

Three or more times is a pattern.

That'd be like me saying all the fucked up stuff I did to you all were "mistakes". I don't make excuses for my actions and behaviors.

And...

noun

the repeated use of electronic communications to harass or frighten someone, for example by sending threatening emails.

Much like you and Skittles did to others, namely the one in the screenshot of the text you sent Skittles, who then sent it to the person you doxxed. It was malicious intent with your dox and you had intentions of scaring that person.

That was cyberstalking and harassment. The actual textbook definition of it.

Also, if collecting evidence about someone (similar to the Rant Videos you like to make/be part of) is "stalking" and "harassment".... Then, by that "logic", the owner of the Discord Server you're part of (y'know, the one that covers various lolcows on the streams you watch) is a "harasser" and "cyber stalker" because of the Google Docs they collect and put together.would that make them "keepers" as well too? Because, by your "logic"... it would.

Again, if you honestly think that what I'm doing is that... retain a lawyer. Because that's the smart and sane thing to do when you believe you have a case

There is much more information that I have that I won't publicize to this Google Doc for reasons of security (and I don't want to get in trouble with my own local law enforcement). But, if worse comes to worse, I know who I'll be contacting immediately.

I'll say this though.... There's a reason why Internet PSAs exist on children's Television network programs.

THE ULTIMATE NEET (@DededeFran)

@BoxOvFox They really be like, "oh my god why do they keep coming back???" while they constantly roping you back in with these outrageous claims Imao.

Like I believe you've made alot of mistakes but at

Also... They're not "stepping away from it" if they keep coming back. (And/or hiding behind their alt account: @PatchworkHook). It's the PR tactic and damage control they've always done when they have gotten called out on their behavior.

And it's not a "mistake" if it's a pattern of behavior. A mistake is only done once, a coincidence is twice, and three or more is a pattern.

Also... Charming~ Sweetheart, no one is "harassing" you when your behavior and actions are on public display. They're just reacting to it in a way that you don't like, because you won't (never have and never will) own up to your mistakes. We're simply collecting everything to show that for years, this has been a pattern you've been doing.

No one is intimidating you or pressuring you.

noun

noun: intimidation; plural noun: intimidations

the action of intimidating someone, or the state of being intimidated.

"the intimidation of witnesses and jurors"

attempt to persuade or coerce (someone) into doing something.

"it might now be possible to pressure him into resigning"

If you can't take the heat, stay out of the kitchen.

If you truly believe you're being harassed... guess what? Harassment is something you can sue someone for. Instead of publicizing it on Twitter for attention, be smart (for once) and get a lawyer involved to fight for your case.

https://lowenthalabrams.com/harassed-online-when-to-call-the-police/

What about all the people you've harassed and silenced to the point they've left the Internet? Does that not count because the world revolves around you?

People contacted your relatives on Facebook to let them know all the messed up things you were doing and saying to people online. You got your ass handed to you by your parents the last time this shit happened. The fact that you're doing it again and threatening people to not contact your family again shows that you're trying to intimidate others with your "power" (quote unquote) because you know damn well you'll get your ass handed to you again.

Huh... "intimidating" others... sounds to me like that falls in line with the actual definition of harassment.

I don't know what to do anymore I can't even have a breakdown and vent over something without people thinking it's a ploy. I can't go dark on this account because I do people think I'm suicidal And if I try to explain to them I'm not I'm told I'm manipulating people...

Twitter | 11/29/2021

Nobody would think this way of you if this wasn't a continuous cycle you have been committing for years.

All of this wouldn't have happened again had you not repeated the cycle and done the same shit for the umpteenth time in a row. One time is a mistake, the second time is a coincidence... but a third time or more? That's a pattern.

You made the conscious decision to do what you did, which resulted in yourself getting called out... again.

And, instead of owning up to your mistakes, you instead try and blame everyone else and play the victim card. However, even if you did apologize and own your mistakes... no one would believe you, because it's a lie. You did it back when YoYo made her video on you and Junkie, and after "apologizing" (quote unquote) and "owning up to your 'Mistakes'" (quote unquote)... you went right back at it once again. So, yeah, even if you try and apologize and own up to your mistakes now... no one will believe you. Well, your blind sheep obviously will, but not the ones who are sane.

You have no one else to blame but yourself for all of this.

If you really want people to "back the fuck off" and "leave [you] alone"... then leave the Internet.

Forever.

Luna/Box/Hook not realizing they're talking about themselves while looking in a mirror (on their @PatchworkHook Twitter account)

So.... People calling you out on your behavior and actions automatically means they're "people creeping you out"....?

I don't understand that backwards logic, but whatevs...

Guess what? WE'RE not responsible for YOUR behavior either. Nor do we owe YOU a chance to explain YOURSELF.

Go back in the cabinet, Pot, and stop calling all the Kettles "black"

The world revolves around Luna/Box/Hook and only they are allowed to be "hurt", apparently.

Another ongoing Document about Luna/Box/Hook:

https://cdn.discordapp.com/attachments/905493656528642069/916045034833477652/Box ovfox.doc

**Will be updating link once the author of post puts it into a Google Doc so that updates can continue to be viewed**

(Guess I'm not the only "keeper")

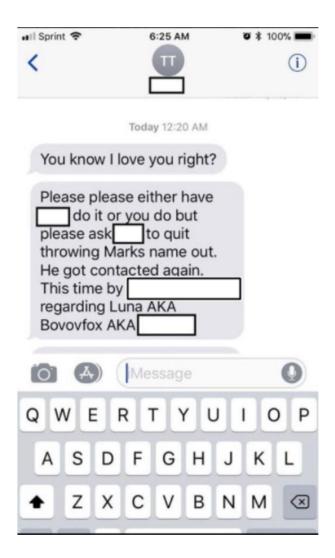

This Document was originally a Journal on DeviantArt, which unfortunately no longer exists due to Luna/Box's whiteknights going after the person to take it down.

Whenever anyone tries to speak out against these groups of people... their Echo Chamber Hug Box follows and attacks the users videos, posts, etc. in a harassment attempt to scare or threaten the user into silence.

EXAMPLE OF LUNA/BOX/HOOK BEING A CRIMINAL:

(NOTE: the redacted personal info was censored by the user that was doxxed. It wasn't redacted in the original screenshot)

This specific screenshot from the other Document is an example of Luna/Box/Hook Doxxing someone with the intent to scare them.

This was a text conversation between Skittles (the receiver of the text) and Luna/Box/Hook (the sender). The redacted parts of the text are the personal information of the victim, which was then sent to said victim by Skittles in an attempt to scare them.

(This screenshot was before Luna/Box and Skittles began living together)

DOXXING (especially if gained by means that isn't already publicly available) and/or threatening someone with their personal information you found out (specifically use it with malicious intent) IS A CRIME https://www.cohenwinters.com/practice-areas/criminal-defense/domestic-violence-crimes/harassment/

https://withoutmyconsent.org/50state/state-guides/new-hampshire/statutory-criminal-law/#cyberbullying

https://cyberbullying.org/doxing-and-cyberbullying

https://www.columbuscriminaldefenseattorney.com/blog/can-doxing-someone-can-get-you-arrested/

Therefore... YES, Luna/Box/Hook. You ARE a criminal.

And Skittles can be tried a criminal too by means of aiding and abetting.

Also, it doesn't have to be explicit detailed information about someone to be considered "doxxing". It can just be the user's real life and full name that was obtained through not publically available means.

Meanwhile... if people start referring to Luna/Box/Hook as Mr./Mz. (Whatever the they/them version of that is) Welch (soon to be Moses) that information is publically available, since they were stupid enough to use their actual relative as a sort of leverage to say "I know more about (this subject) than you because I have connections with (relative's name)." At least FlutterShyRules5 used a random singer/songwriter they had no personal connection with whatsoever in their lie.

And, finding someone's information is like Solving a Sudoku puzzle: the more information that's publically available, the easier it is to find everything else. Especially if you're dumb enough to exposit it online.

Reasons why Patchworkhook is Luna/Box's alt/sock puppet:

- 1). The account was created the day after Box/Luna said they were going to leave. And was active while Luna/Box was ghosting
- 2). Pachworkhook blocked both me and JAR the moment they made their Twitter account. (FYI. My Twitter is MadiiCake. And the only tweet they made about me was in regards to my comment using my Grinding Gears Account (and that tweet was made days after making their account, and days after they blocked me. I also don't have any of my social media accounts linked on my Grinding Gears YouTube. So, if Patchwork didn't know who Grinding Gears was, how did they know to block MadiiCake?)
- 3). PatchworkHook joined a server that Luna/Box was in immediately after creating their Twitter account. It's one thing to do it months or years later, but not the moment the Twitter account is created. Patchwork's account is the only one active in the server, while the last thing Luna/Box did in that server was disobey the server rules by dragging the mods into drama that was outside the server.
- 4). Luna/Box's old Twitter account they used for their crochet art was called "Feather and Hook Crochet". (Hook being the similar name)
- 5). PatchworkHook is 24 and Trans and shares the same birthday as Luna/Box, and is the same age and is also Trans. Luna/Box has also mentioned getting top surgery (despite having made their wedding dress already), and has also mentioned going through HRT.
- 6). PatchworkHook's PFP icon was made by Skittles (@SkittlezJuice), who is the "Team Artist" for The Group (Junkie, Box/Luna, Miki/Wystle, Shiva), and has done lots of art for them in the past—Junkies stills and Thumbnails were created by them. Not only that, Skittles and Luna/Box live together.
- 7). When Spooky joined the server that Box/Luna and I share, Patchwork started acting super shitty towards them. How would Patchwork know who Spooky is? Luna/Box knows who they are I, certainly. But how would Patchwork know?
- 9). People that follow Luna/Box know about their new Twitter account anyway, and the same people follow their new account.

**IF PATCHWORKHOOK ISNT LUNA/BOX, I'd like for them to be in a VC with me in the server that all three of us share and speak at the same time. I will speak with the server owner about this and we can set a day/time to do so**

Ma'am. Leave me alone. No one gave you the authority to be "my keeper" or "hold me accountable" or whatever. I'm not a criminal.

Leave. Me. The fuck. Alone.

Edit: Also making a note of this, I did not EVER use suicide as a manipulation tactic. People started to assume I was suicidal or going to attempt because I went quiet on my main accounts. Because I stopped feeding into this shit. Because I tried to get away. Just as I was about to correct people, someone replied to one of those comments and started saying "if they are they're hiding it well" or "if they did kill themselves I won't feel an ounce of guilt". I never once claimed to be suicidal. I made it known I was at a low point. A low point is not the same as suicidal. Stop grasping at fucking straws to make me look bad. And stop stalking my pages.

Also also. PatchworkHook has nothing to do with this. Back the fuck off.

First of all, I'm not stalking your pages (I can't see stuff that I'm blocked from). I just have people telling me about the stuff you're saying. Same goes for people who notify you about the stuff I'm saying. It's not stalking. I'm just choosing to start keeping records because nothing has changed since 2016. I don't need anyone's "authority" to update this Masterpost of Bull you're spewing, and no one is giving other users "aUtHoRiTaH" to reupload stuff from years ago related to you and The Group as proof that nothing has changed.

You're the one making all this public (like you always have done and do), you brought this in yourself.

Harassment is a criminal offense Aiding and abetting in criminal acts is a criminal offense.

If what I'm doing is as terrible as you say... then maybe instead of making a pity-post for attention, call the police on me, and get me arrested for cyber harassment.

At the end of the day, the purpose of this Google doc is for everyone else. Not for me. The only reason I came back out of the woodwork was because of everything that had been done by you and the group to other people. It's one thing to do it to me (because it's justified), but to others that don't deserve it? HELL NO.

Oh yes and uh. I don't think we should focus on past shit when there's a more current pressing issue like Chris Chan fucking his mom.

(No one was paying attention to Luna/Box during this convo or acknowledged their REEEEEing at this moment, by the way). And the fact that the allegation wasn't denied by them, it's a smoking gun that it was clearly something that had been done. Whether they themselves did it or aided/encouraged it, it's still a crime.

Since then, I've learned more from inside sources about the people that I thought were behind it (ie Creepswork) and who were actually truly behind it.

If allegations are being made about a person on the Internet, that would be the equivalent of libel (the written form of slander). And when that happens, the best course of action is to seek legal counsel (aka a lawyer) not go on Twitter and screech about it.

Filing a DMCA form (which is a legal document) requires the party's personal information. And, also, False-Flagging in general is illegal (if that route were to be taken). If legal action is to be taken... both parties (and any other parties involved) will have their computers searched, because Discovery is another huge part of court cases.

to. Again, I will respect your pronouns, but unless you show me that your name was legally changed to "Sparrow", it's no different than you still calling me Saki or Kura.

Other than that, you basically acknowledged and admitted to the Doxxing incident. You didn't deny it or try to even defend yourself. Committing a crime =/= causing petty drama on the internet. You can say you've grown up from petty drama, but you can't just brush criminal acts under the rug like it didn't happen.

I've grown as a person. I got a diagnosis of what the hell is wrong with me. I've been taking medication, and have been going to therapy to help better control my episodes. Other than that, I don't want anything to do with you or the rest of your kind anymore. Not if it risks my safety and the safety of my family. I don't like Cherri, but I sure as hell believe her and the tens of other former friends over all of you.

Again, I will respect your pronouns. And I will call you Sparrow if it's your new legal name. You know my first and last name. You know where I live. If I was mislead or not, it doesn't erase the years of PTSD I had to endure of some unknown. Aside from that, I'm blocking this account since it was used as block evasion. If you block evade to contact me on Twitter again, I will report all of your accounts for block evasion.

I've said my peace. I want nothing to do with you or anyone else. Don't contact me again

I'm not accusing you of anything. It's been two years that this has been at the back of my mind, and I just want to know the truth. I'll also be asking Creepswork for confirmation as well just so that I have more than one person's testimonies.

Though, I will assure you that, even if the answer is "Yes", I won't do anything, like press any charges. Luckily the Statute of Limitations will be on your side because of how much time has passed since then.

Again, I just have to know whether or not this is true, and I will be getting in touch with Creeps as well on the matter.

Late 2019, CherriedLace got in contact with me in a group call with mutual friends, and exposed a lot of things that went on the in discord server(s?) you all were a part of. While she showed screenshots for the ones that involved her specifically, she didn't share the ones that involved me.

One of those being the allegation of my home address being doxxed in order to "stress me out to make my cancer come back more severely and kills me". While I do recall an Amazon package with an adult coloring book and a pack of Prisma colored pencils arriving at my doorstep a week before Christmas, I arriving at my doorstep a week before Christmas, I didn't really think anything of it (it was a week before Christmas, so what was I supposed to think?) that, of course, was back in 2017. And, like I said, Cherri didn't inform me of this info dump until 2 years later.

So, I just have to know... is it true? You supposedly used Creepswork ties to the deep web for this sort of information (again, another allegation from Cherri), to, not just me, but also Doodletones at the time (since that was around the same time all that drama was going down).

I'm not accusing you of anything. It's been two years

Hey, Icy. It's Saki.

First of all, I just want to make it clear that that message I sent to Shiva as an "apology" to each individual listed was the very last time I ever wanted to get in contact with any of you. And, for the past few years, I stayed true to that (until now, of course). I'm coming to you now to ask some questions that have been bugging me for the past year in a half.

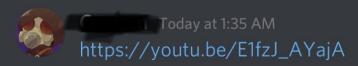

Late 2019, CherriedLace got in contact with me in a grou call with mutual friends, an exposed a lot of things that

After that, they backed off (except for "replying" so some comments I made in the public discord server (that weren't directed at them), despite me having blocked them). Or making their own comments starting with "Madii, ... (insert ass-kissing text here)"

, an an joke.

I'm still looking for this damn robot/alien chef

I blocked them for a reason. The fact they were still trying to indirectly talk to me was disgustingly creepy... And despite me calling them out for the block evasion on Twitter a month prior, they still tried to indirectly get into contact with me.

(11/24/27) just got this from the wonder of the CWC server I'm in:

The owner of the server recently DM'd me saying BoxOvFox was complaining about me on their server. I won't be mentioning the DM here because this person doesn't deserve to be dragged into this (and the fact they were contacted about it to try and be dragged into it by Luna/Box is telling)

But this is one of the rules in the server they run:

Luna/Box using their Twitter to jump in with their alt account Patchwork on it:

Okay. I haven't talked about over even thought of this person in a long ass while. I was in a server talking about Chris Chan when this came up and I wasn't sure if I should be confused, laugh, or be disgusted at what she's claiming.

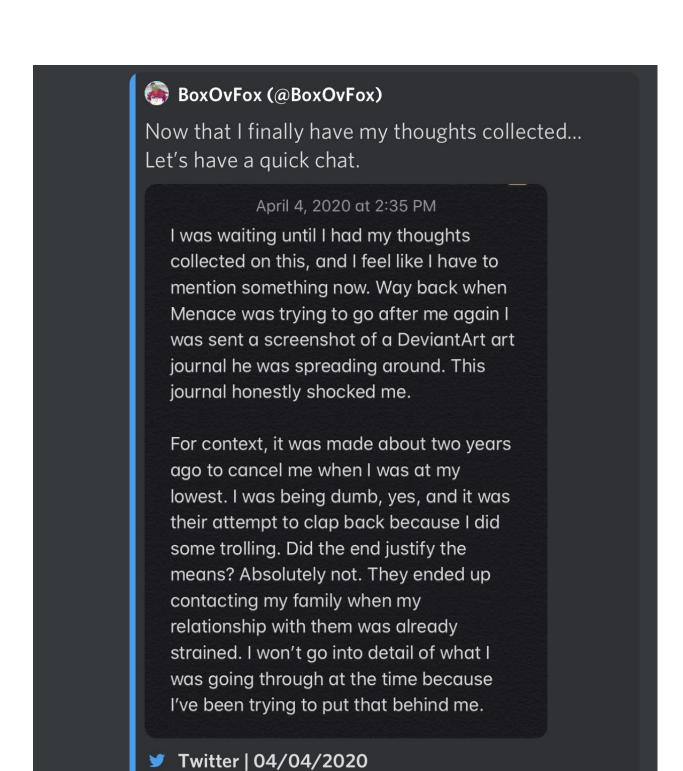

Madiicake. I'm not following you.

When someone is claiming things that aren't true about you, and you know for a fact they're not true.... your first response should be DENY IT. That is the immediate response any sane person would have. Not responding with "wow, bringing up something from years ago? Lmao let it go!" Like they did literally minutes after I DMed them that:

(Based on the conversations that led up to that comment... there was context because it was a naturally flowing conversation)

Claims of the same happening to them done by people who denied the allegation the moment it was made. (And after getting in contact with said person the allegation was about, their story held up and hadn't changed).

I'd rather let this shit just die down but it has been weighing on me as of late. And yes I have already made the joke that someone was trying to cancel me already because that's all this seems to boil down to. 👌 Remember to drink water today.

Twitter | 01/13/2020

Just know that this is something I've been dealing with, I'm hanging in there-It's annoying and I do in fact feel bad for what happened back then. And remember that these are allegations from four years ago. I won't sit here and deny what I did, but I'd like to move forward. You do a lot of maturing from the age of 18 to the age of 22.

This aged like milk

Just because years pass doesn't mean the cycle doesn't repeat again. And I will go on record saying that people don't change. Stop taking the Blue Pill and rip off that BandAid. No one wants to hear excuses.

Someone doesn't have any room to talk there.

Anyway, it wasn't until JAR's video when all of this started coming out that I decided to un-Unlist the My Side of the Story video SOLELY for the purpose of showing that Luna/Box's pattern of behaviors is a cycle that stretches far back to 2016.

And now, here we are today with someone, who claims to not like drama, starting it because they see how "high trafficked" it is and wants to get in on it for the clout.

The last message I ever sent to the group was in January of 2017. Apologizing for the things I did and wanting to move on. Since then, I wanted nothing to do with them, yet, months later, Junkie made a video (as part of their Ranters Gone But Not Forgotten series):

https://youtu.be/hf84FfG0Ydw

The only reason I was made aware of it was because I was linked to it, and it was subtly accusing me of not only being a member of the channel, but making it seem like I was the 4th person they were talking about. I wasn't. It was actually a former friend of theirs (we'll call them "J"), but because the majority of the comments section knew of me more than they did of said former friend, the mob mentality was focused on me as the main subject.

I made my own response video to Junkie's shortly afterwards:

So I was looking though my name on YouTube and I've found this. Yes what I said was wrong but I was going through a unmasking problem. I would apologize, but BoxOvFox has crossed the line when they made that community post about me. But the way how they treated my friend, they don't need forgiveness. I was really angry when they mocked my friend from being a victim to grooming. I don't know much about the community that I'm still new in. Calling me a transphobe, and making multiple community statuses just because I wanted to move on broke the camel's back for me. Their "friends" harassed me and my sister while discussing things out on a stream. Not only that they mocked my

I don't even know if you'll see this Megby. But I sincerely hope you do.

The multiple community posts were because I did want to handle things quietly between myself you and your sister. Instead your sister began to say that I leak family issues. I didn't plan to talk about your family history, if we did chat. That's not my business. That is yours.

I had no idea you were on the spectrum, nor that you were unmasking. When the initial posts were made I did not know.

@BoxOvFox is Gone No I doubt it. I'm still not buying it. A few days ago you blocked my Twitter when I blocked you the first time. All you want but at the end of the day you're points are bull$h*t. @Megby Rigby I commented to reply to *you*, not the creator of the video. Otherwise I would've just commented on the video or said something like "yeah she's lying this is what actually happened". That's not at all what I tried to do. It's not what I want to do.

Look, you don't have to believe me. But while I was never diagnosed, my elementary school tried very hard to prove I was. Turns out it was just separation anxiety and slight PTSD from my own family issues. I don't expect you to trust me, but I do understand people on the spectrum. I didn't know you. @NeonFlashYT let me break this down:

- I'm 24. Just turned 24 in October. I am not that much older than them.
- I genuinely did not know she was on the spectrum. As far as I was concerned she was some random can who didn't like me, made it known, so I screenshotted a public comment on one of my posts. It was almost like someone pulling out their phone when a Karen starts freaking out in public.
- As much as I could have not responded (I didn't for over a day and she came back to my post to keep going), she also could not have posted that. If I had done that, with my current social Either way at this point I'm going to be seen as a villain. If that's the way it's going to be then so be it. If I leave the account people either think I'm running away/trying to escape, or that I'm suicidal and ready to take my own life. If I stay, even though I'm replying to people talking about me, I'm told I'm keeping it going. If I try to make a new account I have people trying to find me and start the whole thing over again because god forbid I try to focus on more positive outlets. I can accept accountability for some of this, absolutely, but people are going to feel a certain type of way regardless of what I say... Or if I don't say anything at all.

@NeonFlashYT Just like anyone else I hate misinformation being spread about me. And doing something bad to someone with ASD is a hot button for me- I've never been diagnosed myself, but much of my family and childhood friends were and are on the spectrum. The whole "Sparrow exploited and attacked some girl for her being autistic" is just- blatantly false and it's one of those things I can't let go easily.

@BoxOvFox is Gone ok one who cares what people think two I think you should move on anyway let people say what they want to say it happens I will say this again box it the way how your going about this and that is the reason why people bring back the old drama because they use it as a way to clarify their perception of you as a person. Yes I understand that what you think your options are but tell me this?

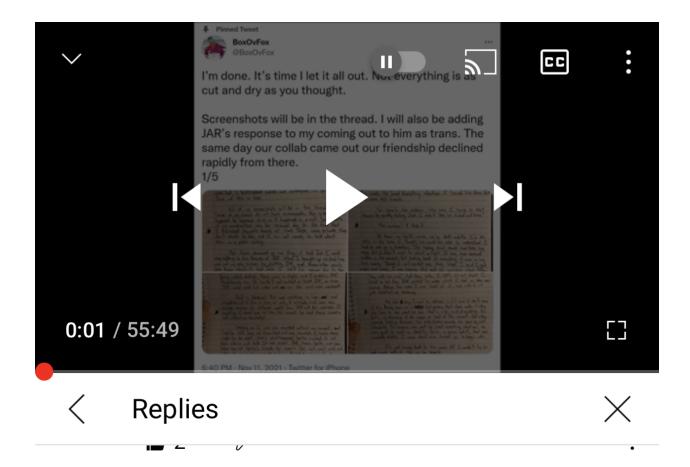

You don't have to stay to prove anything to anyone or leave because people might think your a coward if you have mental issues take time off like you said in one of your post, or stay and continue a pointless drama where you know your

Which option is better? what I said in my original comment you don't have to leave nor stay to continue just leave for a good time and maybe comeback (if you choose to or do something else entirely) with a different perspective and a much better attitude, don't tell lies and spread misinformation, and finally learn when to leave it be again everyone has understood your point and gave their views and opinion on this situation take what you will from them and move on.

@BoxOvFox is Gone this statement idk if it true based on what has happened so far because as much as you claim to hate misinformation then why was it that you basically did spread misinformation. yes I am going to bring this up (sorry) but the jar drama you didn't really address some of the question or statement I made in that community post that you deleted for some reason. Also regarding the 24 girl this is why you should be careful in the future with and how you treat others let this be a lesson

Megby Rigby • 1 day ago

@NeonFlashYT So basically I can't make a video but I'll tell it here. So my Friend released his video about junkie victim shaming him just because he was a victim to grooming. This was a few weeks ago, he has been silent about his attacker for 4 years I think. Most of it was due the fear of being harassed by Junkie's white knights. He was going to make that video on February of last year but he was waiting for people to stop harassing him. So when my friend reached his 100th video, he did finally talked about TheNamesJunkie. But that never reached the audiences to see his video, so somewhere around November of this year he uploads it on his old channel before Jar's video came out. So as soon as Jar's video came out one of the members from the discord group that I was in was criticizing BoxOvFox for what they did to Jar

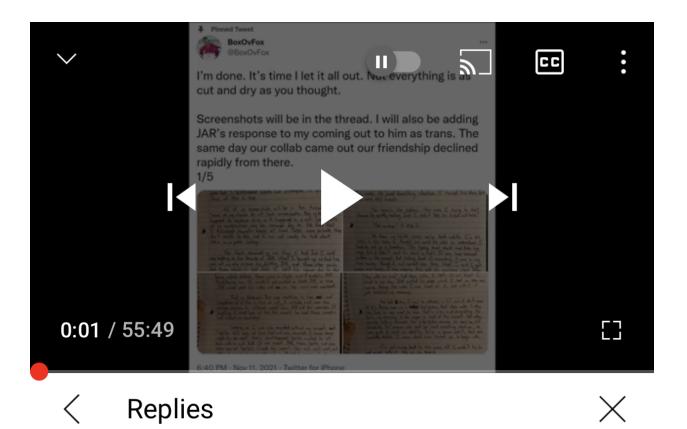

"I don't care why bring things up." Card now seeing these screenshots got me angry that they where flexing about how they don't care if he was a victim/survivor of grooming. Basically they were trying to keep my friend quiet for the longest time about Junkie which started my unmasking situation, so my friend then DMed them saying that they lost the bet, but when I read their reply on his screen shot, they were so making me pissed. So I did make a comment on their status saying which yes the wording I do kinda regret saying but the whole thing was just anger built on to me but this is what I said.

"I like how you were talking Sh*t about my friend Menace. Well I'm here to defend him because I care about him. You are a pathetic person that wants to defend a careless lizard child that doesn't understand what criticism or what ranting is. And the fact that you want to keep my being a heartless €*nt and care about people in your comments calling you out on your bullSh*t about not giving a f**k even on your DMs. Saying that you don't want to help him makes me angry, How about you get a life and stop making up excuses for yourself. You've been exposed by JAR and here you are trying to battle your demons that you can't win. Well you can't cause your pathetic weakling to defend Junkie's actions even your own."

They then make a weak joke about them liking cheese. But then I wanted to debate them on their Discord. But then they made a community post about the comment acting like it was a big deal, yeah sure I did call them names but I was unmasking due to the frustrations on the DMs. Btw my friend was defending me after I defended him about what they said to him. My twin sister Brooke got involved defending me

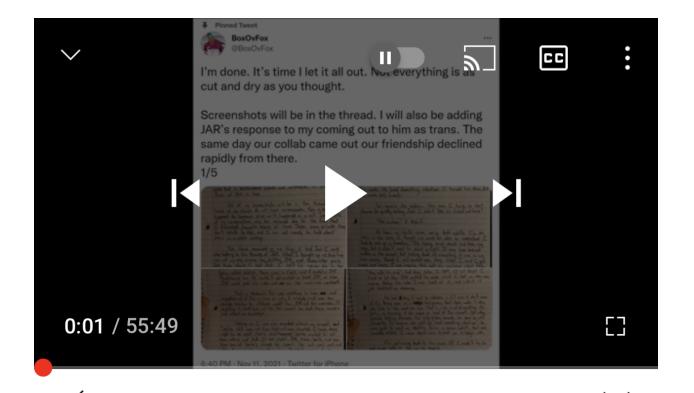

BoxOvFox, I saw the mocking comments on their Twitter account calling me out and mocking me saying. "Who left their kid out." "She's the only birth control I need." "Oh I didn't know that she was on the spectrum." Not only that they called me a transphobe just because I don't understand the LGBTQ community very well I'm still new and learning from this community. But after all that those thoughts had sunk in my head and was feeling mentally torn for a few days. Honestly that comment they called out shouldn't come down to this drama. I wanted to defend my friend, and had a private debate, but after they post that $h*t on Twitter, they started from mocking to being a freak train to get info out there to the public from DMs. I was about done with this argument back and forth, but my god they kept f**king going, my sister made her final stream on them telling them to f**k off but then they made another community post basically oog and ondinged a the process of it. As soon as that community post got up their white knights were bashing us in my sister's stream talking about the situation. My video about my intro got 4 dislikes from their white knights just because I wanted to move on. I decided to change my YouTube channel name so that their white knights can leave me alone. But then I saw another video that was reuploaded due to the controversy involving BoxOvFox, so I did explain my situation, I tried to get in contact with her but I never received her discord. However as when I was trying to contact the person that reuploaded her video, I went back onto Twitter to confront them again but this time pointing out their mockery on me. Yes I'm aware I did call them names again, but I see and hear people doing that while calling out on a person. I told them to reread comments that they made and yet don't see mockery, but I do. As soon as I was done calling them out about

As soon as I was done calling them out about the mockery I had enough so I blocked them, but then they blocked me which is very funny and weird, cause when you block a person they can't block you cause you already been blocked. Man Twitter has some weird set up for blocking people. But, All jokes aside So I couldn't hide the painful mockery they said to me so I did make streams explaining about the issues. I had theses funny feelings in me saying that their fanbase is going to attack me over calling them out on their bs but my god I wanted to post my story there. So now here we are this video was made hours ago and now they are pissed about me trying to explain my situation.

@Nightmare Trooper Never seen this dude, don't care.

I'm usually pretty lax with pronouns. But seeing as Josh knew me for over a year, knew what I preferred, and then when he didn't like me anymore he purposefully went against that. That's why I called him transphobic. It was because he knew, at one point he did respect me, but the moment he felt slighted he basically said "uh no it's against my principles".

If people aren't aware, I usually don't care. If I catch it I'll give a quick "hey for the future" and that's that. No apology needed, no nothing

"I'm usually pretty lax with pronouns" —-> Proceeds to REEEEEE on Twatter about being called "Luna" and compares being called an old username is the same as the deadnaming struggle (legal birth cirtificste names) that Transgender People have to deal with on a daily basis.

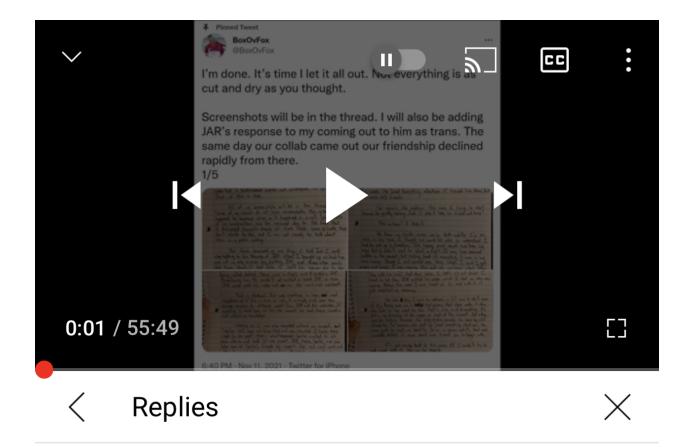

If people aren't aware, I usually don't care. If I catch it I'll give a quick "hey for the future" and that's that. No apology needed, no nothing. Because they didn't know so how can I fault them? It's only after that if they're doing it with the intent to be a dick, that I call them on it. Slip ups are fine and all, but if you're misgendering someone and trying to claim they're faking, that's not cool.

@BoxOvFox is Gone It means I'm not listening to bad people like you. It's like you don't want to listen to a criminal.

@BoxOvFox is Gone If you're claiming that you're leaving? Than do you keep comming back and raging?

And mentioning it as such openly and publicly in the description of their Twatter:

Luna/Box's new Discord that was made:

Now... let's start talking legal-ese here for a minute.

When a crime is being committed over the Internet, it needs to be taken into account where the crime is taking place. That will determine which of the State's laws need to be taken in for the best course of action.

For EXAMPLE: This is the details of the laws concerning Slander in the state of New Hampshire:

https://law.justia.com/codes/new-hampshire/2010/titlelxii/chapter644/section644-11/

And Harassment laws in New Hampshire:

https://withoutmyconsent.org/50state/state-guides/new-hampshire/statutory-criminal-law/#cyberbullying

Maricopa County (Phoenix, Arizona) Laws about Harassment:

https://www.maricopacountyattorney.org/393/Internet-Safety

https://superiorcourt.maricopa.gov/llrc/injunctions-against-harassment/

Arizona (in general) Laws about Doxxing and other Cyberbullying:

https://www.swlaw.com/publications/legal-alerts/3015

https://www.criminaldefenselawyer.com/resources/cyberbullying-laws-arizona.htm

Laws concerning recording (wiretapping, recording calls, etc). in Florida (a two-party Stats).

https://www.hunterlawgroup.com/is-it-legal-to-record-a-conversation-on-my-mobile-phone-in-florida-or-cell-phone/

The fact that Luna/Box decided to go to Twitter and tag the YouTube Twitter account (who, let's be honest here, probably have to deal with 10-year-olds on Roblox fighting with each other more often) with their post regarding and "allegation" is sus and looks more like a publicity stunt, if not clout-chasing.

Luna/Box making snarky remarks despite their Twatter saying otherwise while supposedly being "suicidal":

@Seishin I see people have been saying that they won't feel bad if I were to attempt to take my own life... That's just sad. But thanks for giving me more than enough to report you.

Also for some clarity- The day I posted this was the first time I broke down about this whole thing since it started... Three weeks ago? It was a bit more than two weeks of relentless attacks and jabs while I tried to come up with a game plan. I was very stressed and very low. But I am doing better now that I'm focusing on other things, such as my well-being. Not saying I was perfect in the situation, but sometimes it's best to walk away rather than make things worse. Some people just aren't going to agree.

Seishin • 3 days ago

@BoxOvFox is Gone Iol. go right on ahead. I haven't given you shit to report on. and what little words you could report me on i have it censored.

Threatening suicide after being called out like this and using it as a scape goat to brush aside your faults is a MANIPULATION TACTIC.

What's the SANE thing to do when someone accuses you of something? Get legal counsel. A lawyer. Because if you honestly think that clearly illegal things are taking place, and you believe that you're in the right and those things aren't true... take it to court. Slander and Libel are seen as criminal acts that can be taken to court. If you believe that's being done to you, then get the court involved. Otherwise, it just looks like you're screeching for attention and publicity.

Laws Against Doxxing:

https://www.congress.gov/bill/114th-congress/house-bill/6478?s=1&r=4

Explanation about Aiding in Crimes:

https://www.justice.gov/archives/jm/criminal-resource-manual-2474-elements-aiding-and-abetting

(In other words, even if you don't commit the crime yourself, you can still get in trouble for just simply encouraging it and/or simply being in on it).

And getting someone banned off of YouTube just because they called you out in your BS (along with a bunch of others)... I'm pretty sure that's illegal too. If false flagging is illegal, then I wouldn't doubt that that would be illegal as well.

As for Miki/Wystle since they want to barge in as well...

Thread

So- usually i dont get into this shitdrama is exhausting and i spent too much of my teenage years focusing on it, especially online, but this is ridiculous- This shit if over 5 years old, and i just wanna play dnd and draw shit- but i guess not- btw miki was once my name online

Wystle While You Work 0 seconds ago

Miki here from 5 years ago. Why are you still spreading these lies, saki? Its been 5 years and none of us had anything to do with you. Shiva and me both left youtube and went on to do our own shit, and Sparrow went to do their own thing. Instead, you saki continued to obsess with us. you tracked down every new account we made on any platform under the excuse of protecting yourself, when in reality you are obessed with your former friends. Noone sent a hit on you, noone is still looking to find you and im damn tired of just living my life and some girl i barely knew is still trying to bring up my old name:/ Also purposefully misgendering Sparrow by refusing to acknowledge they are using non-binary pronouns, no matter what ur history was with them, is petty and transphobic. Now, could you kindly keep my name out of ur mouth when i havent had contact with you in literal years?

You know I haven't been the only one so far to call you and the rest of the group out in "drama that is years old" right?:

https://youtu.be/CTiPK2uUEw0

(*This is the only one that is publically available, but there have been others that are private. So, unless I have permission, there won't be an edit to this GoogleDoc with the rest of the links*)

So, if I'm going to get a Twitter call out post about "bringing up stuff from the past", shouldn't the others' as well? Or am I just a special case because I'm the "cash cow" in this instance?

And if what that video is saying about you being a legal adult and showing NSFW art to a minor is true... then that's another crime that can't be treated as if it's just drama.

Plus, let me just state that when you go so far as to commit (or aid and abet in committing) crimes, you nullify your right to have your pronouns respected. Then again... I never called Chris Chan "she/her" nor Randy Stair "she/her", so I guess by that logic I've always been "transphobic".

As for wanting to "move on" after the whole Saki drama... explain to me me why my name was a trigger word in your inner circle long after the fact where (one of) you felt the need to make a separate dA account and spam the profile comment section of one of your former friends long after said "Saki Drama".

Clearly I was being obsessed over as well

And if I really was "obsessed" as you claim I am... you all would have been dead after only a year.

Aside from the victim card being played in your tweet, believe I made it clear in the disclaimer of the video that it was reuploaded for the sole purpose of explaining that Luna/Box has been acting the same way in a cycle since 2016.

I stand by my belief that if someone ISN'T acting the same way, then don't bring up their past. But if they are and continue to act and behave the same (like Luna/Box is doing), then there's no reason to pull the "'It was in the past' get out of jail free card."

Aside from what, let me something PERFECTLY CLEAR:

The only difference between me, Miki, Shiva, Luna/Box, and all the others is that I don't pretend to be a good person. I never saw the point of pretending to be a good person, yet doing shady stuff behind the scenes. Said stuff behind the scenes gets exposed eventually, so might as well just make everything out in the open to begin with.

I'm petty.

I'm toxic as absolute fuck.

I've said and done disgustingly vile things to people.

I don't hide the blatantly obvious fact that I'm an all-around horrible person.

However, I don't harass people in order to drive them to the point of suicide, show NSFW art to a minor while I'm a legal adult, and just act like a freaking snake to every single person I come into contact with.

Petty Drama =/= Committing Federal Crimes

They left for their mental health and physical health. And the only other factor is JAR and his team sent hate mobs after them to the point they had to delete all their old accounts.

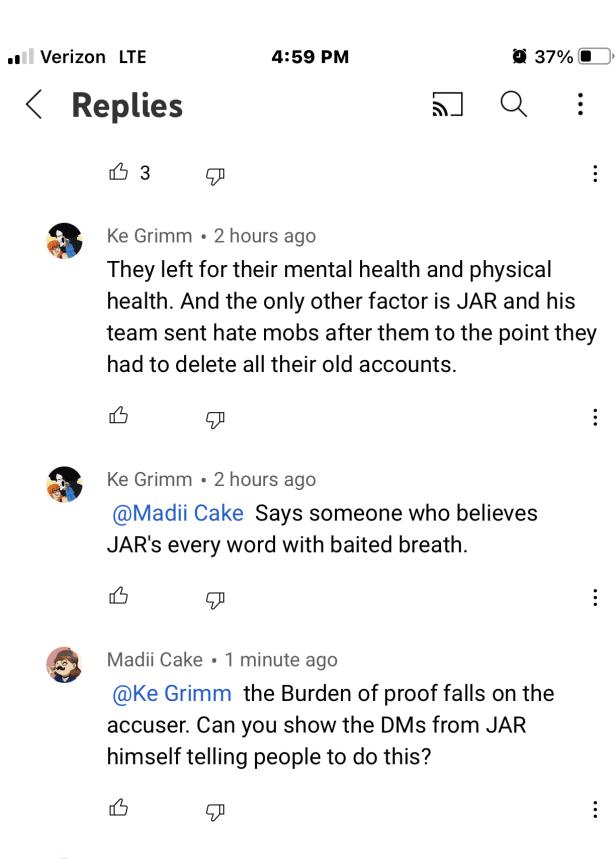

Madii Cake • 0 seconds ago

@Ke Grimm the Burden of proof falls on the accuser. Can you show the DMs from JAR himself telling people to do this?

@Ke Grimm there's a difference between believing hearsay and believing substantial evidence leaking the script and all that shit. Junkie has always been a coward, and it just turns out some cowards become snakes.

Next, BoxOvFox, JAR, in this video, you said Box was blackmailing your editor, but telling someone you're not gonna be friends with them because they associate with someone you don't like is like that example you put with eviction. Losing a friend isn't a big deal, and whether or not the editor decided to associate with your or not for Box's sake really should've been their decision, after hearing your side of course. Sort of like how you say you're going to upload the video. I'd say Box has only done a minor mistake in believing Seahorse and Junkie at their words.

Finally, Seahorse. I have no sympathy for them. They went behind your back and directly lied about who you listen to, and then blocked you while denying it. That, and revealing your previous channel's identity was really just unforgivable because they had no good reason to do either.

TL;DR: Junkie is a coward, Box was mislead, Seahorse is just plain guilty

So, after reading Box's side, I've decided to sum up my thoughts on the situation in an unbiased manner. It's obvious now I should've actually looked at the evidence and not made a fool of myself, but here we go.

I'll start with Junkie, I can't forgive him for leaking the script and all that shit. Junkie has always been a coward, and it just turns out some cowards become snakes.

@Ke Grimm And the same can be said about Luna/Box. They're in the process of getting married and starting their new life. I cut ties with you all for a reason. The only why I'm here is because there have been TONS of other people that have been coming out (with stories that are also years old, mind you).

I don't believe things with baited. I prefer evidence over hearsay.

Maybe you all should stop calling all the kettles black. And focus on your own mental health instead of repeating cycles over and over again as well.

I'm currently waiting for a "-Poops on you-" comment as the only response.

"THE DEFINITION OF LYING AND DECEPTION":

https://plato.stanford.edu/entries/lying-definition/

How to tell when a lie is a lie:

https://www.verywellmind.com/how-to-tell-if-someone-is-lying-2795917

It's not a "lie" if it a a repeated cycle of actions and behaviors, which have been called out by many people in the span of 5 years.

Like when YoYo made a video:

BoxOvFox 1 minute ago

After hearing this video, gotta say I myself am pretty embarrassed with my actions. I'll happily admit my knee-jerk reaction about the video, and I was worried about a friend. It probably doesn't help that video went up the day after the stream, and I spent that entire night after work rushing to finish it. I've been contemplating deleting that video over the past week or so, simply because it's just pointless.

In fact, for the past few weeks I've been contemplating just dropping off the face of the internet. Say it's guilt-tripping if you wish, but as I know a few people in particular in the community I got to thinking. They got themselves all worked out over this pointless stuff when there's so much bigger things to be worrying about: A job, moving out in the future, just the future in general. When I saw them get so worried about one comment being made, or a video, it got me thinking. "This is what being noticed is like? Why would anybody want this?" I've been stuck on the same video since November, a storytime, because what's the point? Do I even want to be noticed if this fear and overreaction is all that'll come from it?

Yoyo, thank you for pointing out where I went wrong. And I seriously do mean it. And of course, I'm sorry to everyone who I hurt. I'm just going to get back to what I should be doing, character creation and writing.

REPLY

YoYo's channel no longer exists because of being run off the platform by the same group. However, her video was reuploaded about a year ago:

https://youtu.be/jUZFS3Xy84g

(The original video was from March 2018)

These comments that Luna/Box (and others within The Group) make publicly are for the sole purpose to save face and look good so that they can get away with the same behavior later on, whether it be "mature" comments or apology videos. Because they know their more heavily influenced viewers will take it as "oh, they said 'sorry' so everything is a clean slate."
